Course Description:

Identity plays a central role in shaping individual and collective experiences in the social and political realms. This course explores the multifaceted concept of identity through the lenses of political science, with a focus on its impact on race, ethnicity, gender, class, culture, and nationality. By examining theoretical approaches such as constructivist, Marxist, feminist, postcolonial, and post-structuralist theories, we will analyze how identities are formed, maintained, and contested within political systems. Through readings, discussions, and case studies, students will explore how identity politics influences both historical and contemporary events, with particular attention to its implications for global governance, inequality, and social movements. Ultimately, this course will equip students with the critical thinking tools necessary to analyze and engage with identity politics in both academic and everyday contexts.

Inclusivity and Intellectual Diversity Statement

- This course engages with questions of identity and power that are central to contemporary political and social discourse. Course materials reflect a range of scholarly approaches, including constructivist, Marxist, feminist, postcolonial, and post-structuralist theories. These frameworks are presented as tools for analysis, not prescriptions for belief.

- Recognizing that students come from diverse intellectual, political, and cultural backgrounds—including conservative, moderate, and progressive perspectives—this course is committed to fostering a learning environment grounded in respect, openness, and rigorous inquiry. All students are encouraged to engage with the material critically, to ask challenging questions, and to contribute their perspectives to classroom discussions.
- Disagreement and debate, when expressed with civility and curiosity, are integral to the academic process. The aim of this course is not to affirm a particular ideology, but to develop the analytical tools necessary to understand how identity operates in political life—across time, space, and ideology.

Course Objectives and Learning Goals

- Course Objective 1: Develop theoretical knowledge of key approaches to identity.
 - Learning Outcome 1: Students will understand "identity" as a multifaceted concept and recognize how various theoretical frameworks (e.g., feminist, postcolonial, Marxist) shape political dynamics.
- Course Objective 2: Provide an in-depth understanding of identity politics in political science.
 - Learning Outcome 2: Students will analyze how political scientists frame identity as a central concept, shaping research questions and guiding methodological choices in the study of politics.
 - Learning Outcome 3: Students will read and critically engage with both qualitative and quantitative research, drawing from empirical findings to construct well-informed arguments about identity politics.
- Course Objective 3: Develop critical thinking and analytic skills.
 - Learning Outcome 4: Students will reflect on their positionality, recognizing how personal identities and social locations shape their understanding of global inequalities and identity politics.
 - Learning Outcome 5: Students will apply critical thinking to evaluate competing arguments in identity politics debates and assess claims based on empirical evidence.
- Course Objective 4: Foster empathy for marginalized groups.
 - Learning Outcome 6: Students will develop empathy for marginalized groups by engaging with their lived experiences and understanding how power and inequality shape their identities, struggles, and opportunities.

D+	<70%	67%
E	<60%	0%

Graded Components

1. 1-2 pages Writing Reflection Exercises (2 total): These will be written exercises where students will be given a prompt and will answer it using class readings. Readings from class do not have to be cited—outside sources should be. Students should use this assignment to practice: 1) crafting a thesis statement, 2) developing paragraph topic sentences and ancillary paragraphs to build an argument, 3) synthesizing and employing sources, and 4) constructing a critical argument from introduction to conclusion that is concise and supported. A full rubric will be provided for the assignment ahead of time. Responses must be 1-2 pages double-spaced, Times New Roman 12-point font, with 1-inch margins all around. The assignment will be open on Carmen with the prompt and students will have 5 days to complete the assignment. The assignment must be submitted via Carmen and will have unlimited submissions within the 5-day time window. Students are NOT allowed to work with each other on this assignment.
2. Midterm Exam: Students will be given 3 questions to choose from and will be asked to answer 1 of the questions. A full rubric will be provided for the assignment ahead of time. The exam should be 3-5 pages double-spaced, Times New Roman 12-point font, with 1-inch margins all around. The assignment will be open on Carmen and students will have

5 days to complete it and submit it via Carmen. The midterm will be virtual, open notes and open book; however, students are NOT allowed to collaborate or work with each other on the exam.

3. Final Exam: Students will be given 3 questions to choose from and will be asked to answer 1 of the questions. A full rubric will be provided for the assignment ahead of time. The exam should be 3-5 pages double-spaced, Times New Roman 12-point font, with 1-inch margins all around. The assignment will be open on Carmen and students will have 7 days to complete it and submit it via Carmen. The final exam will be virtual, open-notes and open-book, however, students are NOT allowed to collaborate or work with each other on the exam.
4. Participation: Participation is an important part of student learning and classroom engagement, and therefore a part of the grade. To obtain full participation points a student must participate actively and consistently throughout the entire semester. However, I employ a broad definition of participation: asking a question, answering a colleague's question, asking a colleague to clarify their point, engaging in small group activities, helping a colleague during and after class, paying attention attentively as other student speaks, fill out weekly survey etc. Attendance will be taken every single class and will count towards your participation grade. You are allowed up to three unexcused absences without penalties. However, each additional unexcused absence beyond the three allowed will result in a one-point deduction from your participation grade. Excused absences may be granted with proper documentation or a formal letter.
 - a) At the end of each Wednesday session, a weekly survey will be released, and students are expected to complete it before leaving the classroom. The survey is designed to help improve future lectures and enhance your learning experience. Students who conscientiously complete at least 10 surveys throughout the term will receive 5 bonus points as a reward.
5. Quizzes: Quizzes will be conducted weekly throughout the semester, focusing on the assigned readings for that week and material from previous lectures. Each quiz will consist of 5 multiple-choice questions. Quizzes will be posted on Carmen by Tuesday at noon, and students will have 10 minutes and only one attempt to complete the quiz before Wednesday's class at 2:20 PM. To ensure flexibility, the 2 lowest quiz scores will be dropped at the end of the semester.

Required Texts and Other Course Materials:

We will be reading multiple chapters from the following books, so access to them is required. These books should be available for free download through the university website, except for Geeta, C., & Nair, S. (2013), which you will need to rent, purchase, or borrow from the library's reserved copies. All other readings will be posted as links or PDFs on Carmen. A reliable internet connection and a computer will also be necessary throughout the semester to complete and submit assignments.

The full PDFs of these books are available through the OSU library website.

University Policies

Academic integrity is essential to maintaining an environment that fosters excellence in teaching, research, and other educational and scholarly activities. Thus, The Ohio State University and the Committee on Academic Misconduct (COAM) expect that all students have read and understand the University's Code of Student Conduct, and that all students will complete all academic and scholarly assignments with fairness and honesty. Students must recognize that failure to follow the rules and guidelines established in the University's Code of Student Conduct and this syllabus may constitute Academic Misconduct.

The Ohio State University's Code of Student Conduct (Section 3335-23-04) defines academic misconduct as: Any activity that tends to compromise the academic integrity of the University or subvert the educational process. Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) plagiarism, collusion (unauthorized collaboration), copying the work of another student, and possession of unauthorized materials during an examination. Ignorance of the University's Code of Student Conduct is never considered an excuse for academic misconduct, so I recommend that you review the Code of Student Conduct and, specifically, the sections dealing with academic misconduct.

If I suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, I am obligated by University Rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the University's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the University.

If you have any questions about the above policy or what constitutes academic misconduct in this course, please contact me.

1. University statement on academic misconduct: It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term “academic misconduct” includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct <http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/>.

2. University statement on Artificial Intelligence and Academic Integrity: There has been a significant increase in the popularity and availability of a variety of generative artificial intelligence (AI) tools, including ChatGPT, Sudowrite and others. These 5 tools will help shape the future of work, research and technology but when used in the wrong way, they can stand in conflict with academic integrity at Ohio State. All students have important obligations under the Code of Student Conduct to complete all academic and scholarly activities with fairness and honesty. Our professional students also have the responsibility to uphold the professional and ethical standards found in their respective academic honor codes. Specifically, students are not to use unauthorized assistance in the laboratory, on field work, in scholarship or on a course assignment unless such assistance has been authorized specifically by the course instructor. In addition, students are not to submit their work without acknowledging any word-for word use and/or paraphrasing of writing, ideas or other work that is not your own. These requirements apply to all students undergraduate, graduate, and professional. To maintain a culture of integrity and respect, these generative AI tools should not be used in the completion of course assignments unless an instructor for a given course specifically authorizes their use. Some instructors may approve of using generative AI tools in the academic setting for specific goals. However, these tools should be used only with the explicit and clear permission of each individual instructor, and then only in the ways allowed by the instructor.
3. University statement on Content Writing: Some content in this course may involve media that may elicit a traumatic response in some students due to descriptions of and/or scenes depicting acts of violence, acts of war, or sexual violence and its aftermath. If needed, please take care of yourself while watching/reading this material (leaving classroom to take a water/bathroom break, debriefing with a friend, contacting a confidential Sexual Violence Advocate 614-267-7020, or Counseling and Consultation Services at 614-292-5766 and contacting the instructor if needed). Expectations are that we all will be respectful of our classmates while consuming this media and that we will create a safe space for each other. Failure to show respect to each other may result in dismissal from the class.
4. University statement on Copyright: The materials used in connection with this course may be subject to copyright protection and are only for the use of students officially enrolled in the course for the educational purposes associated with the course. Copyright law must be considered before copying, retaining, or disseminating materials outside of the course.
5. University statement on disability services: The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know immediately so that we can privately discuss options. To establish reasonable accommodations, I may request that you register with Student Life Disability Services. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. SLDS contact information: slds@osu.edu; 614-292-3307; slds.osu.edu; 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue.

6. University mental health statement: As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you or someone you know are suffering from any of the aforementioned conditions, you can learn more about the broad range of confidential mental health services available on campus via the Office of Student Life's Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) by visiting ccs.osu.edu or calling 614-292-5766. CCS is located on the 4th floor of the Younkin Success Center and 10th floor of Lincoln Tower. You can reach an on-call counselor when CCS is closed at 614-292-5766 and 24-hour emergency help is also available through the 24/7 by dialing 988 to reach the Suicide and Crisis Lifeline.
7. University Statement regarding Title IX: Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories (e.g., race). If you or someone you know has been sexually harassed or assaulted, you may find the appropriate resources at <http://titleix.osu.edu> or by contacting the Ohio State Title IX Coordinator at titleix@osu.edu
8. University statement on Creating an environment free from harassment, discrimination, and sexual misconduct: The Ohio State University is committed to building and maintaining a community to reflect diversity and to improve opportunities for all. All Buckeyes have the right to be free from harassment, discrimination, and sexual misconduct. Ohio State does not discriminate on the basis of age, ancestry, color, disability, ethnicity, gender, gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, pregnancy (childbirth, false pregnancy, termination of pregnancy, or recovery therefrom), race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or protected veteran status, or any other bases under the law, in its activities, academic programs, admission, and employment. Members of the university community also have the right to be free from all forms of sexual misconduct: sexual harassment, sexual assault, relationship violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation. To report harassment, discrimination, sexual misconduct, or retaliation and/or seek confidential and non-confidential resources and supportive measures, contact the Office of Institutional Equity:
 - a) Online reporting form at equity.osu.edu,
 - b) Call 614-247-5838 or TTY 614-688-8605,

c) Or Email equity@osu.edu

The university is committed to stopping sexual misconduct, preventing its recurrence, eliminating any hostile environment, and remedying its discriminatory effects. All university employees have reporting responsibilities to the Office of Institutional Equity to ensure the university can take appropriate action:

- All university employees, except those exempted by legal privilege of confidentiality or expressly identified as a confidential reporter, have an obligation to report incidents of sexual assault immediately.
- The following employees have an obligation to report all other forms of sexual misconduct as soon as practicable but at most within five workdays of becoming aware of such information: 1. Any human resource professional (HRP); 2. Anyone who supervises faculty, staff, students, or volunteers; 3. Chair/director; and 4. Faculty member.

9. University Disability Statement: The university strives to maintain a healthy and accessible environment to support student learning in and out of the classroom. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including 9 mental health, chronic, or temporary medical conditions), please let me know immediately so that we can privately discuss options. To establish reasonable accommodations, I may request that you register with Student Life Disability Services. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. You can connect with them at slds@osu.edu; 614-292-3307.

10. University Diversity Statement: The Ohio State University affirms the importance and value of diversity of people and ideas. We believe in creating equitable research opportunities for all students and to providing programs and curricula that allow our students to understand critical societal challenges from diverse perspectives and aspire to use research to promote sustainable solutions for all. We are committed to maintaining an inclusive community that recognizes and values the inherent worth and dignity of every person; fosters sensitivity, understanding, and mutual respect among all members; and encourages each individual to strive to reach their own potential. The Ohio State University does not discriminate on the basis of age, ancestry, color, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, race, religion, sex, gender, sexual orientation, pregnancy, protected veteran status, or any other bases under the law, in its activities, academic programs, admission, and employment. 11. University Statement on Grievances and Solving Problems: According to University Policies, if you have a problem with this class, you should seek to resolve the grievance concerning a grade or academic practice by speaking first with the instructor or professor.

Then, if necessary, take your case to the department chairperson, college dean or associate dean, and to the provost, in that order. Specific procedures are outlined in Faculty Rule 3335-8-23. Grievances against graduate, research, and teaching assistants should be submitted first to the supervising instructor, then to the chairperson of the assistant's department.

12. Lyft Ride Smart (Previously Safe Ride Program): Lyft Ride at Ohio State offers eligible students discounted rides, inside the university-designated service area (opens in new window), and has expanded service to the Short North area along High Street. Service runs from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. Prices may be impacted by distance, traffic, time of day, special events and prime time surcharges. More information about the service and the Lyft App, and a link to get started using the Lyft Ride Smart services can be found at: <https://ttm.osu.edu/ride-smart>.
13. University Statement on Religious Accommodations: It is Ohio State's policy to reasonably accommodate the sincerely held religious beliefs and practices of all students. The policy permits a student to be absent for up to three days each academic semester for reasons of faith or religious or spiritual belief. Students planning to use religious beliefs or practices accommodations for course requirements must inform the instructor in writing no later than 14 days after the course begins. The instructor is then responsible for scheduling an alternative time and date for the course requirement, which may be before or after the original time and date of the course requirement. These alternative accommodations will remain confidential. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that all course assignments are completed.
14. Weather/ Short-term Closing: Although Ohio State strives to remain open to ensure continuity of services to students and the public, extreme conditions can warrant the usage of the university's Weather or Other Short-Term Closing Policy. Please visit this webpage to learn more about preparing for potential closings and planning ahead for winter weather.

Late Work Policy:

All assignments are due via Carmen on the specified time and date listed. All assignments submitted more than 1 hour after they are due will be assessed a 5-percentage point late penalty. There will be an additional 10 percentage point penalty for each subsequent day that the assignment is late. No assignments will be accepted more than one week late.

Quizzes are all via Carmen and CANNOT be made up. Extensions need to be arranged ahead of time with the instructor.

Attendance Policy

Attendance is mandatory as it is closely tied to learning outcomes in college-level courses. However, I recognize that unforeseen circumstances may prevent you from attending class. You are allowed up to three unexcused absences. If you anticipate missing more than three classes, please inform me in advance so we can arrange alternative forms of participation.

Failure to notify me about absences beyond the three allowed will result in additional deductions from your participation grade. Excused absences will be granted with appropriate documentation or a formal letter.

Attendance will be recorded at every class session and will factor into your participation grade. Each unexcused absence will result in a one-point deduction from your participation grade. Additionally, arriving more than 30 minutes late or leaving partway through the class will be considered an absence for that day.

Email Policy

When you email me, please expect a reply in around 72 hours, and responses may be delayed further over the weekend. This is because of conflicting obligations with family, research, and hobbies. Thus, important questions regarding assignments should be asked well ahead of time because if asked very close to the due date and time – you may not hear from me until after the assignment is due. Emailing me to notify me of an emergency is, of course, a different and valid matter.

Phone and Computer Usage Policy

I understand we live in a highly connected society and that emergencies arise that require immediate attention. Nevertheless, please refrain from cell phone usage during class unless it is an emergency, and please put phones on silent during class. Also, please limit your laptop usage during class to note-taking and other activities immediately related to the lecture to not disrupt your learning and that of those around you. Be present, be engaged, be active.

Carmen Policy

Please check Carmen regularly for course updates, assignment announcements, or possible lecture cancellations. I will notify you in advance during class of upcoming assignments – but it is a good habit to check Carmen regularly, especially if you have missed a class.

Tips for Success

1. I understand we are all going through a difficult time, I will be understanding and flexible with you, and I appreciate the same from you.
2. Communicate with me (and your other instructors) earlier rather than later in the semester about possible issues, or if you are struggling, or need accommodations.
3. Reference carmen and the syllabus regularly to make sure you are up to date on assignments, readings, and deadlines.
4. Set aside a specific time period each week to do the weekly readings for this course and reflect on them before class. Reading for class before the lecture is necessary. Ask yourself: 1) What was the research question? 2) What was the argument(s)? 3) What evidence was provided to back up these claims? 4) What was my response to the reading?
5. Take notes during the lecture and reflect on the lecture material and class discussions afterwards. Re-read notes periodically as well throughout the semester.
6. Seek assistance and guidance from the: Dennis Learning Center (<https://dennislearningcenter.osu.edu>), the Ohio State University Writing Center

(<https://osu.mywconline.com>), the Student Life Disability Services (<https://slds.osu.edu>), Counseling and Consultation Services (<https://ccs.osu.edu>), and/or the Student Advocacy Center (<https://advocacy.osu.edu>), throughout this semester and after as the need arises to keep you on track with your personal and educational goals.

7. Engage in self-care activities and practices.
8. Be respectful of others' ideas, experiences, and opinions both in- and outside of class.

*Tentative Schedule and Timeline of Readings This is a tentative course schedule – please complete readings and reflect on them before class.
